IPNetInfo Crack + License Key (April-2022)

IPNetInfo is a software solution designed to bring you a bunch of information about a user defined IP, including the owner name, country and contact information. The interface of this solution is quite simple and it takes just a few minutes to get used to it. That's because unfortunately, there's no available documentation in IPNetInfo, the only way to find more information on a given feature is to search the Internet. In just a few words, IPNetInfo shows you the following details about any given IP: country, network name, owner name, contact name, address, email, phone, fax, hostname and resolved name. There's also a dedicated window that prompts you to enter addresses to be verified, with multiple options at the bottom of the window, such as resolve IP addresses, convert host names to IP addresses, detect IPv6 addresses and automatically use the right server according to IP address. Additionally, you can even paste the entire header of a received mail and the app automatically extracts the IP, checks it and returns information about the sender. Of course, you will need an Internet connection to be able to use IPNetInfo, but otherwise the app works on low computer resources.
