I have a Galaxy S4 and a screen unlock code (4 digit code, digits is only to be used with numerals). I want to lock/unlock my phone only using text messaging. Phone will be in "locked" mode and I will send 4 digit code via sms, my phone should be able to recognize the code and unlock. I found this and this on the internet but I don't know how to use them. Thanks for the help! Useful Searches About DroidForums.net DroidForums.net was founded in 2009 originally dedicated for the Motorola Droid, the first Verizon Android Phone. Our ultimate goal is to be the Internet's best and largest Android Forum.What's more fun than playing a card game with your friends, family, and complete strangers? Increasingly, mobile games are crossing over into the living room, becoming social games that allow you to play with other people without having to ever leave your couch. These social games are more traditional than the Internet, in which you compete or cooperate against the other players. These traditional social games are being created at a time when the gaming market is looking to create a new type of social player and has made a concerted effort to bring new people into their fold. The most popular card game in the United States and around the world is, of course, Rummy. Rummy is played by
