The Game Tabletop Playground provides a community of tabletop gamers to trade, share, and give feedback about the games we play. It allows players to create a profile page and manage their session invites. Once accepted, you can host your own chatroom to play your favorite games and meet new people. When you're ready, share a link to your game group on Facebook or Twitter! For New Players Whether you are new to gaming or experienced, we have the perfect board games and card games for you. Some of our games are free while others require a small purchase. Some of our games are free or playtest versions while others are the final game. Access to exclusive games During our monthly playdates, we will introduce you to our current game and offer you access to the final version for free! This is a great way to try out games before you purchase them, giving you the opportunity to speak to the developer directly to help resolve any technical issues and make improvements. Free and paid games We want to continue to grow as a community, while maintaining a healthy playing experience. As such, we will continue to accept and review games on an ongoing basis. For those who want to support our game group and help it grow we will gladly accept donations through PayPal. To help ease the financial burden and keep it fun we will even give you access to exclusive games! Our Philosophy The Game Tabletop Playground embraces a culture of fun, support, and professionalism. We want to create a community of games like no other to continue thriving long after the great recession of 2008. As a community we are actively trying to: ● Expand our audience ● Provide unique, quality experiences ● Promote small developers ● Make the act of gaming a social experience ● Grow our community Our Favorite Games Many of us have been playing a wide variety of games for a long time. We work hard to keep new games coming by providing an easy way to add them to our database. We try to keep in touch with our players by providing online chatrooms that you can join. Some of our favorite games include: ● Settlers of Catan (see: ● Empire of the Petal Throne (see: ● Dungeons & Dragons (see:

God of Football is the ultimate football game, but it also has a real-time strategy mode that lets you create your own custom football team. It's a battle of football god vs football god. How Does It Work: God of Football is a football simulation that takes you inside the locker rooms and the field to experience, feel and control the sport you love. You can become one of the world's most successful football managers by playing against, or alongside, your rivals in the ultimate football battle - a battle of football gods. In the game's real-time strategy mode, you create your own custom football teams using your favourite footballers. You can then take on all your rivals and their teams or go one-on-one with them, controlling your players in a football battle in real-time. When you win, you are rewarded with new players, cash and the right to a place in the World Championship. If football isn't your game, you can still play online in the multiplayer battle-mode, where you can set up your own games and take on other players, in a manner similar to console games. Features: • Create your own team • Build your football club the way you want it to be • Play a one-on-one match against your rivals • Play in real-time against friends and take on the world in an online battle • Play your footballing dream with increased roster • Customise your custom team • Very deep football experience • Play online and against friends and rivals • Take on the world and challenge for the world title • A good football game with real-time strategy • Realistic physics on the pitch • Play football as you always wanted and as you do in real-life • Earn credits to unlock new items • Big variety of clubs, from the grass-roots to the prestigious (including Arsenal, Manchester United, Bayern Munich, Juventus and FC Barcelona) • Augmented reality - watch your players behave as if they're actually playing in the stadium • Real-time player paths - controlling your players on the field is as easy as ABC and 123! • High-quality 3D graphics • Real-time video - watch your players live • Ability to play any kind of football you want, from the very simple to the almost impossibly hard • Customise your players - you can select all the traits of your player and set the key characteristics of your team • Play any c9d1549cdd

Johann Weiss (March 14, 1642 in Wolmar (now a district of Zgorzelec, Poland) - June 23, 1700 in Stuttgart) was a German Baroque composer and violinist. He is noted for his contributions to the development of the violin ritornello in German music and for having composed the premiere cantata of the duke of Württemberg Maximilian I on the occasion of his accession as prince of Württemberg in 1699. The cantata premiered in a version by Weiss that replaced its original vocal score with an instrumental one. Its popularity led to Weiss becoming the most sought composer in Germany and to his becoming a court musician in Stuttgart in 1700. Weiss is also noted for his prolific output of sacred cantatas and instrumental music, as well as his early works preserved only in the manuscripts and publications of his music in the cantatas. Family Born in Wolmar (now a district of Zgorzelec), Upper Silesia, Weiss was the eldest of eight children. Two of his younger brothers were composers as well, Johann Caspar and Andreas Weiss. Weiss' father, Alessandro, was a chapel musician while mother Maria Antonia Weiss was a lay sister of St. Francis and a teacher at the Jesuit school in Wolmar. Weiss was apprenticed to a weaver and played a violin part in his father's opera troupe. In 1652, he joined another opera troupe led by a local composer, who sent him to Leipzig to study with a school teacher, who also had taught Leopold Mozart, who had joined the opera troupe in 1650, and Johann Kessel. He also played in the local orchestra. In 1655, he left Leipzig and joined his youngest brother, Andreas, in Amsterdam, where Andreas was a choir singer and composer working for the directors of the Amsterdam opera. His younger brother, Johann Caspar Weiss, had moved there in 1658. The three brothers all continued their training in Amsterdam. They were tutored by Georg Caspar a music lover who was a friend of the Haarlem painter, Gerard Terborch. While in Amsterdam, Weiss spent all of his spare time writing music. He worked in the spirit of a composer with no regard for his lack of formal training. In 1664, he
