drawn from the stream not equivalent to constants. from core.PileUp k,v --? unbound variable where getId(v) 1 order by getId(k); A: This is because the statistics used are not kept on each instance of those dictionary keys, only once at start-up. Consider: val1 INTEGER := 1; val2 INTEGER := 2; val3 INTEGER := 3; val4 INTEGER := 4; val1 := val3; If the instance of val1 is no longer referenced, the statistic is gone. Now val1 gets "discarded" from the statistics, but val3 still stays in the dictionary. Later on, when the DDL runs on the table, one is all we need to know, and val1 isn't coming from dictionary anymore. We

thus need to make sure that only the dictionary is considered. You could achieve that by instead building on SELECT COUNT. SELECT COUNT(*) INTO :cnt FROM table And order by the value returned, as we only need to know if it is the first appearance of the value in the table or not. WITH first_val AS (SELECT * FROM table ORDER BY 1) SELECT cnt, val1 FROM first_val GROUP BY val1 HAVING cnt = 1; The above returns val1 Q: UIActivityViewController not opening the custom icon in Objective C I have a custom icon created in asset catalog.
