PDF.pdfRachel Gibson PRAVA LJUBAV I OSTALE KATASTROFE.pdf.[Spontaneous bacterial peritonitis. Epidemiology, clinical features, diagnosis and management]. Spontaneous bacterial peritonitis (SBP) is an infection of the ascitic fluid in patients on continuous ambulatory peritoneal dialysis (CAPD), hemodialysis and with intestinal perforation. It is important in all cases of unexplained diarrhea, abdominal pain, fever and abdominal signs. The mortality is high with 28% in patients with mild, 8% in patients with severe and 12.9% in patients with resistant infection. Optimal management implies that all SBP, severe and resistant should be treated with antibiotics, beginning with systemic use. Dialysis regimen is maintained in patients who are not in shock or do not respond to antibiotic therapy. In patients who do not respond to therapy, switch to intermittent peritoneal dialysis (IPD) or peritoneal-venous shunt (PV) can be indicated.
