I tried using the fact $p|mn \rightarrow \exists a,b \in \mathbb{Z}$ s.t. $a^2+bn^2=p$ but I'm not sure how to use the fact that there are a,b such that $a^2+bn^2=p$. A: We have that $mn \equiv 0 \pmod p$. From this, we see that $p \mid mn$ implies that $p \mid m$ or $p \mid n-m$. If $p \mid m$, then we are done. If $p \mid n-m$, then $p \mid n$ so that $p \mid m$. By Jack King, Contributing Writer The 400-acre Whites Prairie has been a "natural oasis" that has tended to remain isolated from development and city life. It's located in the northeast quadrant of Chicago, off the west edge of North Ave and south of Oak Park. By 1908, the forested area was home to deer and rabbit. The Whites Prairie Nature Reserve now "The Whites Prairie Nature Reserve was established in 1906 by a wealthy philanthropist, Mary Ann Soames, to protect and preserve a remnant of native prairie landscape," according to the reserve's website. Today, whitesprairieden.org reads: "The Whites Prairie is the largest natural prairie left in the Chicago region, and an absolute treasure of natural wildlife habitat. The name of the reserve comes from the Native Americans, and refers to the absence of grass in the area. In the 1700s, there was a village that had existed here, but was abandoned by about 1780." Native Plants and Wildlife White's Prairie prairie is filled with native plant
